A Message from the President

The Dante Alighieri Society of Gainesville is proud to have you as a potential sponsor. It is our hope that we can work with you towards our goal of disseminating the richness of the Italian language and culture while providing a benefit to your enterprise. The Dante Alighieri Society of Gainesville is part of a worldwide network of sister societies that has its headquarters in Rome and which was founded over one hundred years ago. Here in Gainesville, we offer monthly talks by renowned scholars and experts in fields ranging from Italian cuisine to Italian history. In addition to our regularly scheduled social events, seminars and workshops, we also offer certification in the Italian language that is recognized by the Italian government. Our members are business people, office workers, laborers, scholars, students and teachers, representing a large cross section of American society all linked by a mutual love and admiration for Italian culture. The nature of your business or association tells us that you too share this interest. As a sponsor of the Dante Alighieri Society of Gainesville you will be a privileged member of our circle and a welcome partner in this most worthy endeavor.

Sincerely,
Giovannella Moscovici
Founder and President
